

Daniel has a thorough knowledge and understanding of the planning system and has been involved in a wide variety of projects.

BA History – Newcastle University

MSc in Town Planning – Newcastle University

Member of the Royal Town Planning Institute

Daniel joined the Planning Potential retail team in September 2018, where he has been involved in a wide variety of projects, getting extensive practice in planning as well as developing and expanding his experience.

He graduated from Newcastle University having studied a BA in History followed by an MSc in Town Planning. During his studies he gained valuable work experience with a private development firm, and volunteered with a community-led neighbourhood planning group, giving him a well-rounded understanding of the diverse proponents within the planning-system.

Outside of the office Daniel enjoys outdoor pursuits, spending much of his time running, cycling, and climbing. He ran his first marathon in 2017 and continues to enter events to this day!
